Question/Comment

I've asked a small number of Valley Club members for their feelings of having a large low income housing development for the essential Valley workers located on a 90 acre partial that is directly south of the Valley Club development. I was told that the State owns the property.

The reactions with those I spoke with were very positive, and thought that it was a great location, and that there would be no opposition from club members.

Granted, my small "survey" may not be accurate if a larger participation was to occur.

The property is closer to Hailey, although it's fairly centered between Ketchum and Bellevue.

We must find a long term solution to this issue. The people that call this home, whether part or full time, must find a solution that works for all of the Valley.

I would venture to guess that the right people with the expertise to make this happen are here. Could our city leaders, the State, and an experienced developer team up with local investors and make this happen? It would seem so.

Thanks for listening.
